The probable capdidates for Mayor are not numerous. We have only heard of Colonel Sam. Walker, Colonel Wm. R. Hunt, Alderman Black, Henry J. Lynn, Somebody will get this for the sum of Colonel A. H. Douglass, H. M. Loewenstine and a few others.

The gentleman who isn't a candidate is about to give in and run. The candidates treat him so much that he is trying to conclude and run for something to avert the fate of a confirmed toper. Coma curiosity.

An outgoing policeman informs us on the square-Court Square-that he intends to run for all the offices, and thinks he can be elected to at least one, and that is all he wants. He is, therefore, out for all the known offices in the county, from the Clerk of the Chancery Court down to Judge of the same. His chances are flattering.

It is suggested that no bidder for the Little Rock railroad stock would be willing to guarantee the completion of the road within six months, as that is considered, in the face of so much opposition and litigation, an impossibility. We say sell it out unconditionally for cash in Capt. W. T. Thurmond, a well known and trustworthy citizen, is announced elsewhere as a candidate for City Tax Collector. In the Probate Court, yesterday, the bid of James Fisherty, for burying paupers, eight dollars for adults and five dollars for young persons, was accepted. The contract will remain in force until the meeting of the Quarterly Court on the first Monday in January, and the orders for burial will be issued by Justice Hume F. Hill, one of the Justices of the Probate Court.

In the United States Court, yesterday, der the title of violation of the revenue laws, were disposed of in the following manner: J. A. Fisher and H. Applegate. continued: Parkman, Smith & Smith, nolle pros. entered; James Bond, forfeiture taken; Barney Cox, continued. The calling of the criminal calendar was finished yesterday, and to-day the law docket was ...en up.

Justices Miller and Brooks, of the ommittee from the County Court'to inspect the jail, have been at work and accomplished some commendable reforms Five prisoners confined on trifling charges were taken before Judge Hudson this morning and released on taking the pauper's oath. Yesterday afternoon the mail train going north, on the same road, ran into trestle near Hudsonville, between Holly Springs and Grand Junction. The engine and two cars turned over and were also badly smashed, and again nobody was seriously injured.

Another Gold Medal. The Wheeler & Wilson machine seems to be the winning machine at all times and in all places wherever the agents will condescend to place it in competition with the other so-called leading machines. At the great Hebrew Fair, now being held in this city, was offered a gold medal for the most popular sewing machine. The friends of the different machines being anxious that their favorite should win went to work in good earnest to procure the highest possible number of suffrages for their favorite machine. At ten o'clock the polls closed, when it was found that the Wheeler & Wilson had t is that people owe him for keeping so over two to one shead-of all other maquiet the last two years. As soon as he chines, thus securing and adding another finds out he will let them know through gold medal to the catalogue of prizes it so justly merits.

THERE are a certain set of men, whose moral tone of thought and feeling is so thoroughly debased that they cannot distinguish vice from virtue, or entertain an idea that modesty exists save in the name. We were led to this reflection on reading a paragraph in the Appeal this morning, in which a newspaper man, replying to some one connected with the theater, who asked him what he thought of the entertainment is said to have replied : "It only wanted a few beer-jerkers to make it almost as good as Boom's," thereby showing his predilection. The beer, the whisky, the champagne, were wanting to open his eyes to the excellence of a performance which has received the highest praise from the New York press-

"Barrett's" has a high reputation.

It is no easy matter to separate the delicacies and great variety of pretty toys which crowd the show-room and sale-room of our friend B. Rocco, the first-class confectioner, on the northeast of iron for the Fort Smith road. About corner of Main and Adams streets: for they are linked, as it were, together, and graded, ready for the ties. By the first come uppermost in the mind every time of February, the entire section will be one thinks of a Christmas tree, hung ready for the ties; and by the first of with gay and glittering presents, or the March it will be completed and in run- festive sideboard, laden with jams, jellies, almonds, apples, pears, and pyramide hundred hands engaged in grading. Two and towers and castles of sugar as white more boat loads of laborers left Memphis as snow. Just now there is no sight so yesterday, which will increase the force pleasant as that which may be witnessed to one thousand men. This looks like in Rocco's show-room, on the second on this great work, the beginning of the of boys and girls are led by their parents to examine the almost numberless sorts of playthings which have been prepared for presents. There is one corner of the room may be seen a bright eved, flaxenhaired little fellow delighted with the motions of a rocking-horse; while in another corner perhaps a brown-haired, hazel-eyed, rosy-cheeked chap is trying to poke the tiny forefinger of his right hand into the painted eyes of a wooden Bolivar. Three passenger cars were dog; and a little way from him may be discerned a lively-eyed, pretty-faced lad highly amused with the squeakings of a mock monkey. But the most touching eight of this extremely joyful exhibition is to see a charming little girl take a handsome wax doll in her delicate arms and tenderly press it and kiss it; and nothing is more delightful than to hear the innocent laughter of the cheerful cherubs at the queer gaits of the walking dolls and the shrill voices of talking doll babies. Becco indeed knows how to select toys for the javeniles, and they are crowding his show-room from morning till night. In the sale-room, on the first floor, an immense stock of fruits has been laid in for the Christmas season; and as to candies and pies and nuts, there is an abundant supply and a large assortment. The show-window contains some of the ficest and neatest and most artistic work in the confec-tionery line we have seen for a long counters, whether imported or manu-factured at home, seems to be of the best quality. Rocco is one of our old, staunch citizens, who has been procuring and making nice things for the people of Memphis for many years; and because he understands their tastes and deals fairly with them, they like his way of doing bu siness and like to deal with him.

The Grand Duckess, done up in buresque style, was presented to the patrons of this elegant dramatic temple last night, and was artistically a flattering success. The audience was highly anpreciative and as large as could be expected on such a night, when the attractions at the Overton are taken into account. The charming Worrell Sisters were as versatile, as full of life and glowing with beauty as if before an audience of thousands and metropolitan footlights. Their version of this celebrated opera would open the eyes of Offenbach himself, if he could only attend one of their performances. They are both favorites, both stars, in their line, of no fickle brilliancy. Their singing and dancing and to-night, when we predict there will be a full house. The bill of last night will be repeated to-night. To-morrow afternoon there will be a grand matinee; doors open at one o'clock.

DEAN SIR: We think we have thoroughly tested the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine, as our Mr. J. F. Wiggans has been manufacturing shirts since 1847, and has used Sewing Machines since their first introduction to he public. Some of the special quali-ties of the W. & W. Machine are, its cies of the W. & W. Machine are, its ease, lightness, speed of operation, neatness, uniformity, strength of stitch, economy of thread, simplicity and theroughness of construction, non-liability to derangement, and so easy and simple to manage that a child can operate it with ease. We do not make these testimonials merely as a business point, hut we truly taink that the machine justly merits the praise we bestow upon it. Yours truly.
